

Tom Yuncken

Australian Young Construction Lawyer Award

Nominations close at 4pm, 29 July 2021 AWST.

About

Since 2008, the Construction and Infrastructure Committee of the Business Law Section of the Law Council of Australia has been conducting the Tom Yuncken Young Construction Lawyer Award. The Award was established in memory of Allens Arthur Robinson partner and construction lawyer Tom Yuncken, a former Chair of the Victorian Committee. Initially offered to Victorian lawyers, since 2018 it has been a national award.

The Award is offered by the Business Law Section and sponsored by the Society of Construction Law Australia. Thanks to the generous support of the Society, the winner of the 2021 Award will receive $2,500 and the finalist/s will be assisted to attend the Society's Conference in Hobart in October 2021 (see www.scl.org.au). The assistance of the Building Dispute Practitioners Society in publicising the Award is also acknowledged.

Eligibility

The Award is open to all Australian legal practitioners who are under the age of 36 years at the date on which entries close who hold a valid practising certificate in the State or Territory in which they practise. Solicitors, barristers and in-house lawyers are all eligible and membership of professional associations is not essential.

Award criteria

- Demonstrated excellence in the provision of construction law services to clients and stakeholders.
- Academic and practical abilities in construction law.
- Contribution to the field and practice of construction law, including contributions as an author or speaker on construction law issues.
- Leadership attributes, including maturity, self-reliance and ethical behaviours.

These criteria will be applied holistically, with a view to selecting the best 'all round' candidate

Award procedures

- Nominations received by the closing date will be assessed by a judging panel comprising retired Justices and senior industry figures.
- The judging panel will make a recommendation to the Committee whether there is a suitable candidate to receive the Award based on the information provided in the nomination material. The panel will have the right to conduct its processes as it sees fit, which may include a personal interview of a nominee or nominees in confidence.
- The decision of the Committee will be final.
- If a winner is decided upon, the Award will be presented to the winner at the Society of Construction Law Australia's Annual Conference in October 2021. Should that conference not proceed, alternative arrangements for presentation of the Award will be made.
